In the mysterious town of Port Twilight a macabre story unfolds with serio-comic dimensions helped along with a little song, dance and video imagery. An ensemble cast contemplates the post-9/11 American landscape while portraying a multitude of revolving characters including a B Movie production company, a team of strange dancing scientists, a wild, homeless Rabbi and an out-of-control Golem. The play's mercurial structure mimics the actions of the human genome in this fascinating and ferocious history of high science.

The world premiere of a new work by Len Jenkin.

Preview performances are Nov. 11-13; opening night is Nov. 14.
